11th International Congress of the International Association for Ambulatory Surgery: A report.

The 11th Congress was held from the 10th to 12th May, 2015, in Barcelona.

It was attended by more than 700 International delegates. The Indian participation was limited to 4 members, this time. The two and a half days Congress was full of Scientific material from ENT to Plastic Surgery and from Patient safety to Advanced Procedures. The first day was reserved for workshops and visits to Day Surgery Centers in and around Barcelona.

The other participants of this session were Dr. Ian Jackson, President, IAAS; Dr. Gamal Mohammed, President-Elect IAAS, Dr. Alejandro Recart, Chile, Prof. Zhenzhong Zhang, President, China Ambulatory Surgery Alliance and Ms. Wendy Adams, President, Australian Day Surgery Council.

Another important session was on 'Ambulatory Surgery: What are we speaking about'. In this session, a Guest lecture was presented by me on 'How to improve Networking'. Basically speaking on the important issues of increasing patient flow and factors effecting them. As most of us are in Private practice, importance of networking is not new to us. We do it invariably, factors involved and how to improve it, were presented in this lecture.

Plenary session opened with 'Ambulatory Surgery in the World', I had the opportunity to present the status of Day Care Surgery in India as an invited speaker. My talk included the dismal state of Healthcare in India and inability of the government in improving spending on health, as well as, no support for Day Care Surgery, I was able to highlight the effort made by private service providers, who, individually, have started Day Surgery Centers and made progress. This has been seen in the last ten years. Number of cases and patients acceptance seems to have improved over a period of time.

We have had 8 national conferences and published 11 issues of Day Surgery Journal, and 44 News letters, in these past years. Our efforts have started showing results.
